SCHOOL HIGHLIGHTS

Creative Connections Arts Academy (CCAA) is a learning community where the next generation of thinkers and innovators is cultivated. Students are encouraged to explore and think differently in a family atmosphere on our small, intimate campus setting. The mission of CCAA is to create students who use their creativity to become active parts of the global citizenry. Students are taught to be self-motivated and lifelong learners through arts integrated and project-based learning. CCAA has a curriculum that emphasizes positive character traits and supports development of the "whole child" academically, socially and emotionally.

EXCELLENCE IN EDUCATION

Students at CCAA have a wide variety of opportunities to learn in an integrated learning environment where all art forms and modalities of learning are part of daily instruction. In addition, the school offers sequential, standards-based art instruction to allow students to develop strong skills and pathways leading to college and career. Students have the opportunity to participate in several field trips and assemblies, including Mondavi Center, Sacramento Theater Company and B Street performances, Shakespeare Festival presentations, visits to the Chabot Science Center, and College Campus tours.

CCAA is an environment where students do more than learn textbook math and English. Students at CCAA learn to think and solve problems. The school offers more choices in educational opportunities and opportunities for parent involvement as part of CCAA's core belief in civic engagement. In the workforce of the future, the most important skills will be collaboration and creativity. At CCAA, students are challenged to be thinkers and scholars and work in a collaborative environment on a daily basis.

NOTABLE ACCOMPLISHMENTS

- CCAA is one of two schools in California selected to be affiliates to the Kennedy Center's Partners in Education Program
- CCAA received the Civic Learning Award of Merit in 2014-2015

ENRICHMENT PROGRAMS

- CCAA is an arts integration charter school. All students participate in an annual arts experience.
- CCAA features resident artists who provide professional arts instruction.
- CCAA offers field study days and opportunities for student community service.
- Field study days are days in which students explore careers, community service and possible field trips as part of the regular curriculum. Field study days give students an opportunity to design their own meaningful experience for the day. The program consists of three strands: job shadowing, field trips, and community service.
- CCAA expects each student to provide and document a minimum of 15 hours of community service annually.
- CCAA offers sequential instruction in dance and music, both vocal and instrumental.
- CCAA offers several after-school programs.
- Our secondary program offers Visual and Performing Arts (VAPA) electives.
- Students in kindergarten through sixth grade discover the arts through exploratory classes offered twice a week.
- CCAA offers a media program beginning in fourth grade with opportunities for media production and live broadcast.
